

Biography

Murad Suleiman

“The call and need of a new era is for greatness. It’s for fulfillment, passionate execution and significant contribution.”

—Dr Stephen R. Covey

Murad Suleiman, a high profile speaker and consultant with more than 18 years of experience working for Fortune 500 companies in the USA & the GCC. He also served as a senior advisor to executives, helping them define their portfolio and growth strategies of their businesses.

During his career, Murad enjoyed a unique standing among leading professionals and was widely respected due to his achievements, business savvy approach, and strong international experience. He successfully coached and trained c suite executives, managing directors, as well as senior staff on areas such as Strategic Planning, Corporate Development, Leadership Development, General Management, Execution Models and Organization Performance.

Murad helped organizations strengthen their competitive position and profitable business expansions. He also led the development and implementation of different enterprise change management programs that resulted in high return on investment to the organizations concerned and significant increase in market value.

Murad is married with 4 children and currently lives in Dubai, UAE. He enjoys reading, outdoors and helping individuals and teams unleash their potential.